FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Burnsville Historical Society to Meet at Burnsville Performing Arts Center

October 28, 2011, Burnsville, MN – The history of Burnsville is a story of change and growth, join your neighbors on Thursday, November 10 at 7 p.m. to learn how new parks and greenways being planned for Burnsville will connect the old and new. Kurt Chatfield from Dakota County Planning will share plans for a new greenway that will incorporate history and culture while giving residents the opportunity to connect to the environment. The greenway will connect Burnsville to hundreds of miles of bicycle and walking trails throughout the metro region.

Following the short program, attendees can discuss how the history of the community could be incorporated in the greenway and discuss items from personal collections. Attendees are encouraged to bring an item from their attic to share and discuss. Bring your stories – we want to hear them!

The hosts for this meeting are Dakota County Historical Society board members and Burnsville residents Len Nachman and Dawn Ridgway.

When: Thursday, November 10, 7:00 p.m.

Where: Burnsville Performing Arts Center
12600 Nicollet Avenue
