

George Neal Carmichael

George Neal Carmichael was born 27 Dec 1883 in Castle Rock Township, Dakota County, Minnesota to Robert Carmichael (1854-1920) and Sarah Daniels (1858-1943). Prior to service, he worked as a railway clerk and for his father, who was a farmer in Farmington.

George was inducted into the service on 30 Oct 1913 at Fort Snelling. He served as a private with Company I, 19th U.S. Infantry, and was promoted to corporal on 15 Jun 1917. He became a sergeant on 11 May 1918 and served with Company I, 57th Infantry, 15th Division. He was discharged at Camp Pike, Arkansas on 7 Feb 1919. He did not serve in Europe during WWI. However, he served at Veracruz during the American occupation in 1914, and on the Mexican border with the regular army.

George married Grace McConnaghy and they had four children: Marjorie, Robert, William and Joe. George worked as a section foreman for state highway construction in Texas. He died in Fort Sam Houston, Bexar County, Texas on 7 Mar 1949 at age 65. He is buried in East Bernard Methodist Cemetery in East Bernard, Texas.
